Conference of the Albanian Nejat Society in Tirana

October 16, 2023

On Sunday, October 15, 2023, a conference was held by Albanian Nejat Society in the conference hall of the Hotel Mondial, Tirana, to try to connect the members trapped in the Mojahedin-e Khalq

Organization (MEK, MKO) with the outside world and bring the voice of their waiting families to the people and statesmen of Albania.

Grown up in the MEK, my therapists shed tears for me

October 28, 2023

The stories of children of the Mujahedin-e Khalq (MEK) can be documented as evidence of the existence of abusive practices and maltreatment in the group. All children of Mujahed parents are more or less survivors of traumatic experiences. However, not all of them find the courage to recount their sufferings after leaving the cult-dominated atmosphere. The most recently published account is that of Atefeh Sebdani whose traumatic childhood has even moved her therapists.

In response to the MEK claims

October 18, 2023

As it was expected, Nejat Society Albania was slandered by the propaganda machine of the Mujahedin-e Khalq (MEK). The group accuses Nejat activists of being the agents of the Iranian government in Albania. A few weeks ago, the group published an announcement against Nejat Society's members in Albania. Nejat Society Albania has been established by former members of the MEK and a number of Albanian citizens who have been gathered together for a humanitarian cause: freedom of MEK hostages and the reunion of families of hostages with their loved ones at Ashraf 3.

Brikella Sullolari is one of the Albanian citizens of Nejat Society who has published her response to the MEK's disinformation letter about Nejat Society Albania.

Collapse of Zamani's family, outcome of joining the MEK

October 24, 2023

A family of four was collapsed immediately after they joined the MEK. Ali Asghar Zamani, his wife and their two children were recruited by the MEK agents, in 2003.

The Zamanis did not have any idea that they were going to Iraq to the military Camp Ashraf. The MEK agents had promised them immigration to Europe to build a happy life there. But, for years their destination was the isolated camp in Iraqi deserts where the family fell apart.

Ali and his wife were forced to divorce. His initial resistance against this order did not work. His wife was finally separated from him. Their 17-year-old son was coerced to wear military uniform and their little daughter was taken back to Iran.

Why MEK is considered as an ungrateful group for Albania

Aldo Sulollari

Alfapress.al

October 15, 2023

MEK came to Albania as part of a promised dream, to be away from their country, Iran and the Iranian regime.

The MEK for more than 10 years has come with the status of humanitarian shelter, which caused a lot of trouble in relation to the neighboring countries, but it was a diplomatic relationship of that time, which favored this community to be able to get the green light in our country.

At that time, more than 3000 were accepted into Albania by the government of Sali Berisha. They were congratulated both by international institutions and by representatives of the USA.

mon goals of knowing as much as possible about the destructive cult-like mind control that has plagued many young people in today's era.

Ray Torabi: People of Iran should hate the MEK more!

September 17, 2023

Mohammad Reza (Ray) Torabi, a former child soldier of the People's Mujahedin Organization (PMOI/MEK), once again spoke about his distressing experiences of captivity in this cult to inform Iranian people.

Having spent the best part of his youth, from the age of 16 to 35, in what he calls the "evil cult," he lost his father under the torture by the cult's leaders, and now he speaks of a mother who is has been terribly brain-washed by Masoud and Maryam Rajavi.

In the end, Torabi calls on the people of Iran to have a deeper understanding of the MEK and eventually hate this destructive cult more than before.

MEK goes from terrorist list to Canadian politicians' best buddy

THE CANADA FILES

by Yves Engler

September 13, 2023

Canada's political establishment has become close to a group it once banned as a terrorist organization. Reports that the violent cult MEK may set up shop here reflects this country's conflictual relations with Iran.

Recently Iranian government aligned media reported that the MEK is considering a move to Canada. The Albanian government has begun to restrict the group's operations. In June, a camp inhabited by over a thousand MEK members was raided by the Albanian police and MEK leader Maryam Rajavi has been blocked from entering the country. As a result, there's speculation the group wants to leave Albania, which has hosted it since 2016.

MEK misled MEPs

Tehran Times

September 12, 2023

A report by the European Parliament has said that the Mojahedin-e Khalq (MEK) terrorist organization has committed many non-transparent actions in dealing with the members of the European Parliament.

"Iran's Mujahideen, an organization Human Rights Watch has accused of intimidating, torturing and sometimes murdering members of the Iranian diaspora, has been using aggressive and shady practices to meet MEPs, including by hiding their real affiliation," said the report.

It added, "MEPs have been included by this organization as co-signatories of letters they had not co-signed or named as co-hosts of conferences they never endorsed."

The report further said, "they were registered using over 45 different pseudonyms, such as 'MEK', 'NCRI', 'ISJ', 'APA', in order to mislead MEPs and the Transparency Register."
