When Massoud Rajavi ordered “No Exit” in 1994

September 23, 2024

In March 2005, the HRW published the investigative report on the MKO, titled “No exit: human rights abuses inside the MKO camps”. No exit was the title of the report, but the content revealed a very small part of the HR violations that take place inside the MEK on a daily basis.

The “no exit policy” was started by the group’s disappeared leader, Massoud Rajavi in 1994. Iraj Salehi, former member of the MKO explains Rajavi’s no exit policy to keep members in his cult of personality for a lifetime. The policy is still implemented in the Cult of Rajavi.

“Divorce Revolution” had been set off by Massoud Rajavi a few years earlier, after he forced members to divorce their spouses. He had appointed his third wife, Maryam Rajavi as the “president elect” and formed his cult hierarchy to maintain control over members.

Former members of the MEK: “Don’t let the MEK leaders deceive you”

The tragedy of Sharifi brothers, traumatized by the MEK

September 17, 2024

Zahra Sharifi, the grieving sister of two victims of Mujahedin-e Khalq (MEK), complains to the leaders of the group narrating the tragic story of her two brothers, Hassan and Esmail who were caught in the trap of MEK.

The Sharifi family is one of the families that fell victim to Rajavi’s ambitions and received a fatal blow from the MEK’s destructive cult-like system.

Hassan and Ismail Sharifi, normal men at a young age, while they were married in prosperity and comfort and lived with their wives, parents and their only sister, in 1997, they set out to emigrate to Europe with the aim of doing business and earning a higher income. They did not know that all their wealth, youth and mental and physical would be lost in that path.

Albanian Police has bad news for the MEK high-ranking members

September 16, 2024

The Albanian news outlet, abcnews, reported that an internationally wanted Iranian man was arrested in the border in order to be extradited to Iran.

According to the announcement of Albanian police, an Iranian citizen who is wanted internationally was arrested at the entrance of RSH (Republic of Albania) in Kakavije in the Gjirokastër County, southern Albania. Mehran Kamalpour, 52 years old, born in Iran and a resident of Denmark, has been sentenced to 2 years imprisonment for the criminal offense of “Forgery of documents” by the judiciary.

The police announcement has an important point for the Mujahedin-Khalq (MEK) to state:

As a result of the intensification of controls and the exchange of information between Interpol Tehran and Interpol Tirana, the Border Police caught at the entrance of RSH, the Iranian citizen declared internationally wanted: Mehran Kamalpour, 52 years old, born in Iran and resident in Denmark. Following the procedural actions, the Section for the Investigation of Economic and Financial Crimes of DVP Gjirokastër arrested with the purpose of extradition to Iran, the citizen M. K., whom the Court of Tehran has sentenced to 2 years in prison, for the criminal offense of “Forgery of documents”.

Regarding the MEK who are Iranians living in Albania, it is worth to know that Mehran Kamalpour is an Iranian citizen prosecuted by a court in Iran for a criminal case. Currently, the criminal case against 104 high-ranking members of the MEK, with thousands of plaintiffs, under various criminal charges including forgery of confidential documents, is ongoing in the 11th branch of the Criminal Court in Tehran.

OPEN LETTER TO JAVAID REHMAN

SEPTEMBER 11,
2024

The open letter of a group of former members of the MEK to Javid Rehman, the former special rapporteur of the United Nations on Iran affairs, was published in Keyhan London on Saturday, 14 September 2024.

These former members, who mostly live outside Iran, informed Javid Rehman of important points that not only the former UN Special Rapporteur needs to know, but also anyone who may be involved with the MEK in any way.

These former members of the MEK, who are opposed to the group they left, are also opponents of the Iranian government and in the aforementioned letter, they strongly criticize Javid Rehman because he went to the group's headquarters in Paris visiting the group's leader, Maryam Rajavi.

MEK hostages' mother pens letter to Mai Sato

September 9, 2024

Dr. Mai Sato

Special Rapporteur on the human rights situation in the Islamic Republic of Iran

With regards.

I am Hamael Ghanizadeh, the mother of Mehri, Nahid and Mahmoud Saadat, who are living in the closed camp of Mujahedin-e Khalq Organization (MEK) in Albania and without any right to have contact with the outside world and with their family.

I plea you to hear our voices as elderly, suffered mothers of MEK members. We have been wronged a lot, if we are among the same people for whom you are responsible for human rights, please help us too, we have souls, we also have hearts, we are the most aggrieved of all, we are waiting for our loved ones' visit for a long time.

You are a human being, feel a little sorry for us mothers who have been exiled and suffering and suffered mental torture. Come, we have souls, we also have hearts, we are the most afflicted of all, we have been blind for several years.

Please care about our sufferings. Why shouldn't we be able to visit our loved ones? What is our sin? Our only sin is to be mothers of MEK members!

Please accelerate my visit with my children at the MEK Albania's camp. Please let me have a meeting with you to recount my experiences with this organization. I am looking forward for your action as a human right activist. We, mothers of MEK members plea you to help us with our visit with our children.

Sincerely,

Hamael Ghanizadeh, mother of three MEK hostages at Manez Camp, Albania.
