Let us visit our children enslaved at MEK Camps

Families from Arak Province sent letters to the Prime Minister of Albania

Dear Mr. Prime Minister,

As suffered mothers, we ask you to allow us travel to your country and visit our beloved children after long years.

Albania is a democratic country and defends human rights. So why do you prevent us from visiting our children who are kept in MEK Camp in your country.

Sincerely,

My name is Montaha Zahraei. My son Mostafa Ghaedi has been captivated for 35 years at MKO.

During all these 35 years my son has had no contact, not even in a letter. I wish to see my son after 35 years.

My name is Aghdas Bandi. My son Hamidreza Noori has been captivated at MKO for 30 years now. The time MKO was in Iraq, I traveled there several times, asking to meet my son. Unfortunately, the cult leaders didn't allow me to visit my son.

My name is Fatemeh Rezaei. My son, whose name is Hassan Rezaei, has been a captivated at MKO camps for 36 years.

36 years passed with no contact, not even a letter. I miss my son so much. I lung to hug him once more.

My name is Soltan Golrizan. I had lost my mother when I was a child. As the oldest sibling, I have raised my brother Abbas Golrizan all by my self. My brother Abbas Golrizan has been captivated by the MKO for the past 30 years now. I am worried about him and have no news regarding his physical well-being.

My name is Mahin Habibi. My daughter, whose name is Parvane Rabiee Abbasi, has been a captive at MKO for 25 years. She has not been allowed to have any contact with me. I also have no contact information of her.

As a mother, I miss my daughter and wish to see her after all these years

EHSAN BIDI IN ALBANIA AFTER MARYAM RAJAVI'S PLOTS TO ELIMINATE HIM FAIL

Ashraf News, October 24 2020:

A former member and defector from the MEK, Ehsan Bedi, posted a video clip of him dancing from his detention centre in Albania after the organization's efforts to deport him from Albania to Greece failed.

The video, which Bedi posted on his official Facebook account, showed him dancing in the refugee shelter in Karak, after the MEK failed to kill Ehsan Bedi or deport him to Greece.

Sorayya Abdollahi, Feraq Society, October 19 2020:

Sander Lleshaj Interior Minister must protect former MEK member in Albania

We know that the internal situation of the Rajavi Cult is very bad and a large number of members want to separate, and the officials of the organization are trying to make the situation outside the MEK camp in Albania unsafe so that no one dares to leave.

In the past, Maryam Rajavi had conspired against Mr. Ehsan Bedi many times and tried to silence him, but she did not succeed.

She has not given up her efforts against Mr. Bedi and continues her conspiracies, including giving false information to the police.

Apparently, Mr. Ehsan Bedi has been transferred to an unknown location by the police.

WHY THE MEK ENDEAVOUR TRUMP RE-ELECTION

Nejat Society,

October 31 2020:

Once advocating the anti-American anti-imperialism stance of their early leaders and then designated as a terrorist organization by the US State Department, the Mujahedin Khalq Organization \(the MKO/ MEK/ PMOI/ Cult of Rajavi\) is now pretending to be a friend of the administration is a hawkish one, with stricter policies against the government in Tehran, it is favourable for the MEK leaders. Thus, Trump and his warmonger team must be the MEK's best friends in the US administration. Therefore, it is worth it for MEK to support Trump for the next term.

nation. Although, the MEK may not be known to most American politicians, the propaganda activities of the group sometimes has been very crucial in manipulating warmongers.

It was a huge disclosure in the mass media when Murtaza Hussain of the Intercept port-

US government! The group's U-Turn to serve the US has been its main policy during the past decades, particularly after the collapse of the group's long time sponsor Saddam Hussein in 2003.

However, not all parts of the US government are favourites of the MEK. As far as an admin-ed that Trump retweeted fake news made by an anti-Iran hardliner who does not exist. He revealed the MEK-made fake persona in tweeter under the name of Heshmat Alavi. "This is not and has never been a real person," Hussain stated. [1]

WHY THE MEK ENDEAVOUR TRUMP RE-ELECTION

The moves by Trump –even unintentionally— seems to be in favor of the MEK. In September, Al Monitor stated that the US President’s appointee to the Supreme Court, “Amy Coney Barrett was part of a legal team that represented the National Council of Resistance of Iran, which had previously been designated by the United States as a terrorist organization”. [2] Dr. Djene Bajalan, a historian of the Middle East talked to the American Michael Brook’s show about Amy Coney Barrett’s relationship with the MEK.

“Amy Barrett’s work has been to advocate on behalf of the Mujahedin Khalq, the MEK which is s a terrorist organization by any standards,” he said. Calling the MEK as “crazy people”, he suggests that these crazy people can run their agenda among the US republicans because they have money. “They pay people big box to give speech and things like that,” he said. [3]

Therefore, it sounds expectable to find the MEK running campaigns making efforts to aid Trump win the elections. The MEK has actually its own usual techniques in misinformation campaigns in the media. The US Director of Intelligence John Ratcliffe announced on Politico, on October 21 that, “Iran is behind threatening pro-Trump emails to U.S. voters”. [4] Juan Cole who is specialized in Middle Eastern and South Asian history and a critic of the MEK’s cult-like violent record, suggests that Ratcliffe’s words are “brain dead thing” and that the spoofed emails can be part of the MEK’s PR mechanism.

He clarifies: “Now, could the spoofed emails have come from accounts in Iran? Sure. The People’s Jihadis (Mojahedin-e Khalq or MEK, MKO), sometimes listed as a terrorist group by the US State Department, wants to overthrow the Islamic Republic, is active inside Iran and could easily set the government up in this way. Or I’m sure that Saudi or other anti-Iran government hackers could route the emails through an Iranian server or spoof an Iranian internet service provider. But, really, guys, intelligence analysis isn’t just tracing an ISP. You have to know geopolitics to know if something is plausible.” [5]

What is significant in the MEK-Warmongers relationship is that all sides of the alliance do not care about Iranian people. The proof of that is the support of US hardliners for the MEK which is a hated entity among the Iranians.

POW'S AND MUJAHEDIN-E KHALQ FROM IRAQ TO ALBANIA

Nejat Society,

October 10 2020:

“Cult Members never laugh. They don’t have humor. Humor is a human thing. They don’t have any natural creative ability to be funny just like AI.” Lauren Pritchard

The quote seems so familiar to those who were involved with the Mujahedin Khalq Organization (The MKO/ MEK/ PMOI/ Cult of Rajavi). Just a few days ago, a former member of the group told BBC Persian that “laughing was forbidden in the MEK”.

I was in the MEK for 12 years and I envied the Iraqi prisons thousands of times

The BBC report titled “Prison in Prison” was published on September 20. The BBC reporter Jiar Gol covered the fate of the Iranian soldiers who were taken as POW by Iraqi forces and then were recruited by the MEK. He interviewed two defectors who left the MEK after years of imprisonment in Iraqi jails and then in the MEK camps.

Edward Tromado was one of the interviewees. He, as any army soldier, was taken as a war prisoner in the early days of the Iran-Iraq war. Edward spent 9 years in Iraqi prisons, according to BBC. He was recruited by the MEK in 1989 and shortly after, he realized the bizarre conditions inside the group. “I was in the MEK for 12 years and I envied the Iraqi prisons thousands of times,” he tells Jiar Gol.

Why did he envy the violent and deficient life of war prisoners’ camps of Iraq?

His answer is revealing: “In Iraqi prison, we went through all pressures, restrictions and violence with jokes and laughter but in the MEK, laughter was totally forbidden, you were never allowed to laugh. If two people talked to each other, they would be told, “you have Mahfel”. (Mahfel is a Persian word referring to a group of people gathering together)

Leaders of the cults make efforts to manipulate the minds of their followers; they try to form the members’ minds as robots with Artificial Intelligence. However, most human beings instinctively resist coercion so leaders’ endeavors result in opposite, as the communist states experienced it in the Soviet Union and the Eastern Block.

Under the rule of communism, people used to indicate their protest by making jokes and cartoons of their political and social problems. It was kind of underground literature for the citizens of these countries who were deprived from freedom of expression. In the MEK, this underground literature is called Mahfel.

In a dictatorship, joke and laughter is a media in the hands of people all over the society. Actually, the dictatorship turns into a machine that produces comedy; their economic theories and their suppressive system cause a constantly ridiculous situation.

In the absence of freedom of speech and unbiased journalism and media, jokes reflect the real reaction of the society to the system. The clandestine jokes or Mahfels –in the MEK– not only help cult members maintain their social relations in the closed ideological structure of the cult but also preserve happiness in the community of the cult and ultimately prevents members from getting brainwashed by the system.

The leaders of the Mujahedin Khalq need to prohibit anything that causes hilarity among members in order to keep them in the cult-like structure of the group. These mind-manipulated individuals, with demolished creativity simply obey the absolute power of Massoud and Maryam Rajavi. Under the rule of the leaders they may deny every human feeling and emotion in their inner selves. They may even show up in front of the cameras of the MEK's TV channel to deny their love for their family but what is really going on in the covert layers of human relations in the group (ie in the Mahfels) is more important. Mind of a human being is the freest place in the whole world.

OLSI JAZEXHI INTERVIEWS FAMILIES

MEK HOSTAGES IN ALBANIA NEED HELP

October 10 2020:

Dr. Olsi Jazexhi talks to families of Akbar Khosravi, Mohammadreza Farajipoor and Bahman Mohammadnejad. They are soldiers of the Mojaheden el Halk (Mujahedin-e Khalq, aka MEK, MKO, NCRI, Saddam's Private Army) organization, an ex-terrorist organization which is hosted in Albania. Their leader, Maryam Rajavi and the MEK command do not allow their members to contact their families. They are kept in total isolation, brainwashed and radicalized to hate and want to do jihad against Iran.

The Albanian government which supports and hosts MEK supports the tyrannical rule of #MaryamRajavi and #MEK in the isolation that it does to its members. However, their families want to meet their loved ones, deradicalize them and make them go back home. In the following video Jaafar Khosravi wants to convey a message to his jihadi brother Akbar Khosravi who is kept in the MEK camp in Albania. Alireza Farajipoor, Dokhtar Farajipoor and Farangis Farajipoor want to convey a message to Mohammadreza Farajipoor who is also a jihadi soldier kept by Maryam Rajavi gang in the Manza Camp of MEK.

Mohammadreza Mohammadnejad and Zahra Torabi want also to convey a message to their brother Bahman Mohammednejad who is also held by Maryam Rajavi in the Manza jihadi camp of MEK. The Mojahedin organization which hates this video and family members of its soldiers is going to accuse and attack the host of this video Dr. Olsi Jazexhi of psychological torture against 'the freedom fighters' which Maryam Rajavi keeps in Albania, ready to do jihad and terrorism against Iran. However Olsi who is not afraid of MEK – #NCRI threats, blackmails and character assassinations campaigns interviews these Iranian families who want to convey messages to their family members who are being kept as hostages, radicalized and cult slaves by Maryam Rajavi jihadi gang in Albania.

THE MEK AND CHILDREN – HANIF BALI

Nejat Society, October 02 2020:

Hanif moved between eight different families until he turned 18

He has been a member of Sweden Parliament since 2010 but he was born in Kermanshah, Iran in 1987. Three years later in Camp Ashraf, his Mujahed parents left him in the hands of the agents of the Mujahedin Khalq Organization (the MKO, MEK, PMOI, Cult of Rajavi) to take Hanif to Europe together with hundreds of other children of the MEK members.

Hanif is a successful Swedish citizen now because he is one of those few lucky MEK children who was not returned to Camp Ashraf, Iraq, to receive military training. However, in an interview with Manoto TV in 2016, he recounted heartbreaking stories of his childhood as an orphan in a foreign country. This is what he said about his biological parents: “Mothers were allowed to call their children only once a year. My father has called me only twice in my entire life.”

Today, you can find out a few new details of Hanif’s challenging childhood among his diverse parents and families. On May 2017, he wrote a short caption for a photo of himself by the side of his biological father on his Instagram account: “I met my biological father at 13:30. I do not think DNA test is necessary” (referring to their high resemblance).

Another significant photo shows baby Hanif next to another man. The clarifying caption explains his controversial life far from his biological parents:

“In my entire childhood, I had a lot of fathers. Father is not always biologic or the one who you lived with more or the one who was kinder or more violent than others. Sometimes your dad can be the one who you had the most challenging relationship with but he was the same person who you knew profoundly and loved the most. I have portraits of several fathers in my mind but I had only one dad. I miss him every day.”
